Most studies have highlighted the role of parents as active agents in the career development of their children. Parents want their children to opt for a career they know well about, but what their children want or aspire to become can be completely different. The child's aptitude is a mirror of his/her personality, strengths, and weaknesses. Hence, a designed aptitude test can reveal a lot of information regarding the child that can help in taking a well-informed career selection. It is very difficult to spend your life working in a field that you are not interested in. Psychologists said that it was very easy for a child to get swayed by peer pressure into choosing a career that the majority was opting rather than the one which was best for him/her. Although it should not be the most important, remuneration of a career holds value in one's life; nobody likes to earn little. A job's earnings should match the child's aspirations and provide a satisfying comfortable life. Modern societies need professionals in every field.

Silicon Valley is not made of silicon , and it is not a river valley, but Silicon Valley is probably the most famous valley in the world . Although it is not the place where the first computer was built , Silicon Valley was the birthplace of the modern computer industry. For this , we can say thank you to scientists at the universities in California. It was in the nineteen-sixties that American ' youth culture' really began .When the students finished university , many of them did not look for jobs with big companies like Ford. Instead they wanted to be free and run their own operations and stay in California. Intel was founded in 1968 , and in the same year the first computer mouse was built . Then , in 1976 , an electronic student called Steve Jobs started a small computer company in his garage ; he gave it the same name as the Beatles' record company :Apple .Today , Silicon Valley is still the home of the computer industry ; it is still full of high-tech companies.

Antibiotics are powerful medicines used to fight a wide variety of infections or diseases caused by bacteria in people and animals. Antibiotics work to kill the bacteria or stop them from multiplying. Before bacteria can multiply and cause symptoms, the immune system can typically kill them. Sometimes, however, the number of harmful bacteria is excessive, and the immune system can't fight all. At that point, antibiotics are urgently needed. Antibiotics that affect a wide range of bacteria are called broad spectrum antibiotics like amoxicillin, whereas antibiotics that kill bacteria and affect only a few types of bacteria are called narrow spectrum antibiotics such as penicillin. Some people may develop an allergic reaction to antibiotics, especially penicillin. Side effects might include rash, swelling of the tongue and face. The more often antibiotics are used or taken incorrectly, the more chance bacteria have to change and become resistant to them. Patients should complete the whole course of medication to prevent the return of the infection. Although new medicines are developed, antibiotics resistance will remain a major threat.

Not all cultures share the same beliefs and values about what is normal or socially acceptable. These differences can cause severe culture shock. Once a person accepts the difference and acknowledges it, then the process of integration becomes easier. Here are some examples of situations that can cause food culture shock: in some Chinese restaurants, eating chicken feet is common. Although not an everyday food item, horse meat and blood sausage are normal in France. Some restaurants in ancient culture specialized in dog meat dishes. However, recently in Cambodia, animal rights activists have gained a small victory in their effort to end the trade in dog meat. To overcome food culture shock, here are some tips: first, expect food to be different. Second, we don't have to eat strange things quickly. Third, use good judgment and don't insult people by making disgusted facial expression.

Human rights are the rights which one acquires by being alive, while civil rights are the rights that one obtains by being a legal member of a certain political life. In other words, civil rights are the rights of citizens to political and social freedom and equality. They guarantee equal social opportunities and equal protection under the law. Civil and political rights are a class of rights that protect individuals' freedom from violation by governments, social organizations, and private individuals. They ensure one's right to participate in the civil and political life of society and the state without discrimination or repression. Unlike other rights concepts, such as human rights or natural rights, in which people acquire rights inherently, perhaps from God or nature, civil rights must be given and guaranteed by the power of the state. Examples of civil rights include the right to vote, the right to a fair trial, the right to government services, the right to a public education, and the right to use public facilities. Civil rights are an essential component of democracy; when individuals are prevented from participating in political society, their civil rights are being denied.

1. People get civil rights by Medical engineering is a field that has been around for decades, but it's one that continues to transform and develop. This challenging field refers to applying engineering's approach and innovation to the field of medicine and healthcare. Medical engineers are regularly employed by hospitals and clinics, making sure medical equipment is running properly. They're responsible for maintenance and ensuring safety requirements, in addition to understanding the risks a machine could cause to patients and the technicians operating it. The equipment they work on range from small devices such as a bandage, to larger critical machines such as x-ray imaging systems. Medical engineers work in research, testing and building new theories or specialized equipment. While some engineers work to find better ways to diagnose and treat illness and disease, other medical engineers work in biomaterials, which means they study and design manmade materials that can work with and alongside human cells. Biomaterials are used to address a wide range of issues, whether it's replacing human tissue or organs or administering drugs through more effective and accurate delivery mechanisms.

Psychologists said that it was very easy for a child to get swayed by peer pressure into choosing a career that the majority was opting rather than the one which was best for him/her. Although it should not be the most important, remuneration of a career holds value in one's life; nobody likes to earn little. A job's earnings should match the child's aspirations and provide a satisfying comfortable life. Modern societies need professionals in every field: utility workers, garbage collectors, farmers, nurses, doctors, engineers, teachers, professors and many others. Furthermore, demotivation might have a negative impact on the child's mental health when rejecting all of his/her ideas. Parents can work together to gather information about a career and then help the child in deciding whether it is suitable or not. Most people have dreams of future jobs and there's no limit to what this could be, but we can't be absolutely certain about our career choices. Researchers told us that through self-reflection and guided activities, we would find our core values and a clearer path towards the right career.

Medicine is the science dealing with health and how to cure all kinds of diseases. Medicine has advanced amazingly over decades. The emerging medical devices has evolved saving countless lives. For instance, X-ray imaging, Magnetic Resonance Imaging, Robotic Surgery and Organ Transplants. These breakthroughs helped surgeons diagnose, monitor and treat many medical conditions. X-ray imaging uses an external radiation to produce images of the body without having to make an incision. Also, MRI scanners use strong magnetic fields and radio waves to generate images of the organs in the body. During Robotic Surgery, surgeons can perform very complex steps with more accuracy, flexibility and control than it is possible with conventional techniques. Robotic Surgery results in smaller incisions which reduce pain and lead to less time spent in hospitals. Organ Transplants allow people to return to normal activities by transplanting various body parts like heart, liver and kidney. In short, medicine aims to promote and maintain health and well-being of patients. It is certain that medicine will continue to develop in ways we have yet to imagine.

C – Composition:

The Internet could be a very positive step towards education, organization and participation in a meaningful society."

Write a paragraph about the importance of using the internet in the education process.

3.A -Read the following test, then choose the correct answer A, B, C or D: (60 marks)

Most people think that education is limited to schools only, but the truth is that there are lessons that we can only learn from life, and they may be more important than those learnt at schools. Life lessons are sometimes painful before they are acquired, and in order to avoid this, we must benefit from the experiences of others. We shouldn't pay too much attention to the trivial things that are not important and waste our time and effort. Since life is so unpredictable, we must not live on expectations only and meet everything new in life with optimism and positive thinking. There is no word more boring and monotonous than the word "I". We must be confident of ourselves, but that does mean we talk about ourselves and our accomplishments all the time, as this inherits vanity. Human relationships are also important because without love and support from family and friends, you will not feel happy and will not achieve success in life. Man by nature makes mistakes, so be tolerant and seek excuses for those around you, and if someone comes to you with an apology, do not stop him, and do not carry in your heart any envy of anyone. There are no alternatives to exercising, eating well, fresh air and sunshine. Take care of your health and make it a priority for your entire life. The pursuit of success will make you succeed in the end, no matter how long the period is, but keep trying. Failure is a great teacher in life. It teaches us humility and how to correct our course of life. A great example is Thomas Edison. He failed many times, but he did not give up until he succeeded. Even when he failed, Edison learned something. 'I get results in everything I try,' he said. The golden rule for everybody is to be honest, trustful, useful and generous so that they leave life with a trace that those around them will not forget about.

1. To avoid life's painful lessons...

- a-We must learn from our own experiences.
b-We must learn from the experiences of others.
c-We mustn't learn from life.
d. We must give up.

2. People shouldn't live on expectations only because...

- a- life is unpredictable b- people always know their future
c-they can't be sure about their future d- life is easy

3. We shouldn't use the word "I" because:

- a-the word "I" is very boring when it is used all the time
b-we have to talk about ourselves all the time
c-it teaches us humility
d- the word "I". is very normal when it is used all the time

4. We should be tolerant with others because...

- a-everyone makes mistake b- Man doesn't make mistake
c-a and b d- Man is lazy

5. When Edison failed during his life...

- a-he gave up before he succeeded. b- he surrendered
c-he tried again until he succeeded d-he stopped learning

6. To leave a memorable trace, you must be.....

- a- honest and trustful b-useful and generous c- a and b d- guilty

B -Read the following test, then choose the correct answer A, B, C or D: (60 marks)

The two most common causative agents of infectious diseases are the virus and the bacterium. They both are tiny to be seen by the naked eye, they can cause similar symptoms and are often spread in the same way. Bacteria are living organisms, but viruses aren't. A bacterium is a single complex cell. It can survive on its own, inside or outside the body. This allows bacteria to live in many places - soil, water, plants and the human body. Most bacteria aren't harmful; we have many bacteria on and inside our body, especially in the gut to help digest food. They also serve many vital roles in nature by decomposing organic matter and by converting nitrogen to chemicals usable by plants. On the other hand, viruses are smaller and aren't cells. Unlike bacteria, they need a host such as a human or an animal to multiply. Viruses only grow and reproduce inside the host cells they infect. Their life involves the hijacking of the biochemical activities of a living cell. Viruses and bacteria differ in how they cause infections. As the names suggest, viruses cause viral infections, whereas bacteria cause bacterial infections. Viruses infect a host cell and then multiply by the thousands, leaving the host and infecting other cells of the body. Diseases caused by a viral infection include influenza, common cold, flu, AIDS and Covid - 19. Bacteria, on the other hand, have a more varied operation and will often infect when the right opportunity arises. Bacterial infections include pneumonia, strep throat, ear infection and food poisoning. In fact, it's very important to know whether bacteria or viruses cause an infection because the treatments differ. It can be very difficult to know what causes an infection because viral and bacterial infections can cause similar symptoms.

Success, by definition, means to accomplish your goals. Some people define success by measures such as wealth, position or status and one's capabilities. There are some factors which help us be successful. Start by setting your goals. Having a goal is an essential thing, but it should be a smart goal. If there was only one secret to success, it would be preparation. It will set you in the best position to execute the task with the least difficulty. Timing also is a crucial ingredient to success. The only method of obtaining good timing is through repetition or experience. Furthermore, one needs confidence to be successful. He has to start with smaller tasks that have a higher chance of success to build up confidence. Parents should help their young children to build up confidence and become happy in their life. They should discover at an early age the talents of their children and help them to grow their gift and take care of their needs and interests. Actions are louder than words. When you take action, you trigger all kinds of things that will inevitably carry you to success. Nothing happens until you take action. To be successful, you have to do what successful people do. It is said: "Success is 10% inspiration and 90 % perspiration." The golden rule to achieve success is to keep learning. These are three dangerous words: "I know that." If you have read or heard about something, you do not know. If you are not rich and successful the way you want, then you do not know.

1. Success by definition is.....:

- a- perseverance and learning b- studying and sacrifice
c-a and b d. accident

2. is to accomplish your goals.

- a- Success b- Failure c-losing d- Sleeping

3. Having a goal is..... to be succeeded

One of the most important periods in the development of medicine at all, especially medieval medicine, which lasted from the 9th to the 13th century, is called " the Golden Age of Arabic Medicine". The books of Arabic science that came about in this period are not only by Muslim authors, because Arab civilization is the result of consecutive and continuous efforts of various nations. In ancient times, people used to cure sickness by using plants, herbs and other materials. In countries such as Egypt, Greece, Rome, Mesopotamia, India and China, medicine was magical and mythological and diseases were attributed mostly to the supernatural forces. Thus, before hospitals developed, patients were treated mostly in temples. The practice of medicine during the Middle Ages was empirical; it focused mainly on curing illnesses rather than discovering their causes. At that time, cures continued to be a mixture of superstitions, religion, herbal remedies, bleeding and purging; people were bled to reduce inflammation which was then thought to be the root of all diseases. Moreover, medical schools were established, but most people never saw a doctor because of the high-cost treatments. Instead, people were treated by local wise people who were skilled in the use of herbs, or by priests, or barbers. Modern medicine started to emerge in the late 18th century and therefore, there were many improvements on medical tools and machines, especially after the Industrial Revolution.

The United Nations was established by the Charter of the United Nations and Statute of the International Court of Justice. The Charter was signed on 26 June 1945 by the representatives of 50 countries including Syria; Poland signed on 15 October 1945. There were 51 founding members in 1945. The United Nations (UN) officially came into existence on October 24, 1945 after ratification of the Charter. The day is now celebrated each year around the world as United Nations Day. The UN contains five permanent members: China, France, Russian Federation, the United Kingdom, and the United States, And ten non-permanent members elected for two-year terms by the General Assembly.

The United Nations (UN) was the second multipurpose international organization established in the 20th century that was worldwide in scope and membership. Its predecessor, the League of Nations, was created by the Treaty of Versailles in 1919 and disbanded in 1946. The UN also has regional offices in Geneva, Vienna, and Nairobi. Its official languages are Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian, and Spanish. At the beginning of the 21st century, the UN and its programs and affiliated agencies struggled to address humanitarian crises and civil wars, unprecedented refugee flows, the devastation caused by the spread of AIDS, global financial disruptions, international terrorism, and the disparities in wealth between the world's richest and poorest peoples.

The human body is a wonderful machine which performs several functions without rest from birth. Our body continues to work, without stopping for a second. The main organs of the human body are lungs, heart, kidney, liver and brain. These organs work together and are controlled by the brain. Each system such as digestive system, excretory system, circulatory system, endocrine system, nervous system or muscular system carries out a major function. All of them are controlled by the brain which gives us intelligence to use our physical and mental abilities. The body has more than 50,000 living cells of two hundred different types. These cells include neurons (nerve cells) and glands (specialized cells). The hormones and enzymes are produced and secreted by these glands that perform different functions. The human body is covered by the skin, which is a flexible covering that protects the body and keeps water and harmful germs out. The body's strong internal framework (skeleton) is made of 206 bones, connected at the joint, such as in legs. These joints help us to move. The backbone supports the head and limbs and protects the spinal cord. Between the skeleton and the skin, there are about 500 muscles. The sense organs namely eyes, nose, ears, tongue and skin pass the messages to the brain through nerves. They take the instructions from the brain to the muscles. The brain automatically controls breathing, heartbeat, digestion.

One of the most destructive moments in our lives is failure. When we work hard and keep faith with clear heart and soul to accomplish something and fail, it will surely have negative consequences for our lives. When we fail, life turns upside down. Everything seems to disappear into thin air. However, most people don't realize that failure acts as a stepping-stone towards success. They don't know that we can learn more about our lives when we fail. Throughout history, there have been many famous people who had once greatest failures in their lives, but later they could learn from their experience and were able to reach the top. Thomas Edison is by far one of the most famous inventors in history. He holds 1,093 patents to his name. However, when attempting to invent a commercially-viable electric light bulb, he failed over 10,000 times. When asked by a reporter how it felt to fail so many times, he merely stated, "I have not failed 10,000 times. I have not failed once. I have succeeded in proving that those 10,000 ways will not work. When I have eliminated the ways that will not work, I will find the way that will work." Albert Einstein, one of the greatest thinkers of our time, didn't speak until he was four-years old. He also failed his entrance exam to the Swiss Federal Polytechnic School located in Zurich at sixteen-years old. And, even his father, up until the time of his death, considered his son to be a major failure. After eventually graduating from college, Einstein actually worked as an insurance salesman, but quit after sometime because he failed at that as well. Bill Gates has amassed a mind-boggling net worth of close to $80 billion, and is known as the infamous father of modern personal-computing software. He brought us operating systems such as Microsoft DOS and Windows, along with wildly-popular titles such as Microsoft Office's Word, Excel and PowerPoint. However, at the age of seventeen-years old, his first software company called, Traf-O-Data, which analyzed raw traffic logs, failed.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is the branch of science and engineering specialized in making clever machines, capable of thinking and imitating human-level intelligence. One of the primary targets of AI field is to produce fully intelligent agents that interact with the surroundings and conduct human-like behaviors. These agents are tools, having the ability to judge matter and differentiate what is wrong. The field has started with robots, which can sense and react to the world around them. They also cover purely software-based agents, which can be actuated with natural language and multimedia. Currently, the field expands to driving, aviation, medicine, online advertising, image recognition, and personal assistance. The AI field is based on computer science, information engineering, mathematics, psychology, linguistics, philosophy and many other fields. The first spark started in the year 1950, when a test of the ability of a machine to exhibit intelligent behavior equivalent to that of a human was done. Since then, the term AI has been introduced and closely associated with the field of artificial intelligence which was popular until the end of the 1980s. In the 1990s, the new concept of "intelligent agent" emerged when AI was not only limited to computer science, but developed to include other areas like health, security, education, music, art, and business applications. Many AI applications are deeply embedded in the infrastructure of every industry, and they are expected, in a few years, to touch nearly all the industries. However, AI technologies are still limited to very specific applications. One of the AI limitations is the lack of "common sense"- the power to judge information beyond its acquired knowledge. AI is also limited in terms of emotional intelligence.

E-government means everything from online government services to exchange of information and services electronically with citizens, businesses, and other bodies of the government. Traditionally, e-government has been considered as the use of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) for improving the effectiveness of government agencies and providing government services online. Nowadays, the framework of e-government has been evolving to include the use of ICT by government for conducting a wide range of interactions with citizens and businesses as well as open government data and the use of ICT to enable novelty all over the country. The essential principle of e-government is to improve the internal mechanisms of the public sector. This can be done to reduce financial costs and transaction times, integrate work flows and processes and enable effective resource applications across the various public sector agencies aiming for workable solutions. Through innovation and e-government, governments around the world can be more efficient as they provide better services and respond to the demands of their citizens by transparency and liability. They can be more comprehensive and restore the trust of citizens in their governments. Recently, Syria has adopted this new technology to facilitate public services for its citizens. This requires links to governmental organizations that supply services and information such as governmental documents, fees, etc. electronically.

The word "robot" stems from the Czech "robotnik" which means a "slave". The relative advantage of robots and intelligent machines is accompanied with their ability to play a range of movements and thinking endlessly and tirelessly. When designing robots, it is essential for planners to focus on the robots' ability to follow patterns. Due to this engineering reality, robots are certainly specialized in the first step. Another complicated sort is the generalized robot, which can to some extent imitate humans. Robots offer people a helping hand to focus on the creative process when relying on such intelligent machines to take care of unpleasant physical and mechanical work. The greatest benefits of robots should mean for people staying away from unhealthy environments, such as mines and deep waters. While, robots have the ability to do heavy duty jobs with accuracy and repeatability, human beings have the privilege of creativity, flexibility, decision-making and adaptability. Motivational influences of robotics among workers and managers can be amazing. This issue has been recognized in the medical sector in some empirical operations despite the fact that the use of robotics in risky tasks need special attention from safety and health experts.

1-Composition: (30 marks)

Write a composition of no more than 80 words about the following topic:

A book fair you have been to recently.

Include the following:

*What kinds of books did you see?

*Which one(s) did you like most?

*Which do you prefer , electronic books or paper books ? Why?

Recently, I had the pleasure of visiting a book fair in Damascus, which is an excellent platform for book lovers, to explore new works from various genres. There were many different kinds of books on history, literature, science, religion, and more. I was very interested in history books. For me , paper books are more interesting than electronic because you can read them anywhere and they don't hurt our eyes. The Book Fair was a wonderful experience that I will cherish for a long time.

The role of parents in their children's future.

Include the following:

*How parents should deal with their children's strengths\weaknesses \ interests\ needs\ failure\ success.

*How they should help them choose their future career.

Parents play an essential role in their children's future. They can support their child's future in a variety of ways. They should motivate them to complete their work on time. Parents should also ensure that their children have access to the best educational materials, such as textbooks and other resources, to ensure they are educated properly and up-to-date with information. One way to help your child explore career options is to start a discussion about their interests. They should talk with them about the hobbies, activities, and subjects they most enjoy and think about potential careers or job opportunities related to them.

"Advise people at your own age on how to be successful "

Include the following:

- *What success means
- *Factors of success
- *How to deal with failure

Success is no accident. It is hard work, perseverance, studying, sacrifice and most of all, love of what you are doing. In fact, there are some factors which help us to be successful. Start by setting your goals. Having a goal is an essential thing, but it should be a smart goal. Timing also is a crucial ingredient to success. Furthermore, one needs confidence to be successful. However, most people don't realise that failure acts as a stepping-stone towards success because we can learn more about our lives when we fail. Finally, it is significant to know that things do not just happen to your benefit by themselves; you must work hard to make them happen.

My best friend.

Include the following:

- Introduce him\her.
- How long you have been friends
- What qualities you admire in him\her
- What qualities you dislike in him\her
- What friendship means to you

A best friend is indeed a precious gem and I am fortunate to have found that gem of my life, Rami has been my best friend since childhood. He is a good boy who helps everyone, is friendly and well-behaved. He is loyal and devoted friend, and he inspires me to be a better person every day. There is only one think that I don't like about him, which is his stress when he run into a problem. We push each other to do our best and we are always there in need. Finally, a true friend will be one who will stay by your side at all times. Life is an awful, ugly place to not have a best friend.

The Robotic surgery paved the way to use the machines in doing complicated operations with more efficiently and less damage. It helps doctors to perform surgery more accurately and easier than traditional surgery, and from here we see that the cooperation of medical engineering with the artificial intelligence project is the best medical technology useful for humans. Finally, the emerging of the Artificial Intelligence enhanced human healthcare in a way we couldn't imagine.

An article about a person's rights and duties in society.

Write an article about what it takes to be a good citizen in your community.

Citizenship.

The importance of law.

Citizenship is the main relationship between the citizen and the homeland. The law is the important link between them. Therefore, it is very important to know your duties and rights as a citizen. Among the duties of a good citizen in society: obeying rules and regulations, respecting traffic rules, protecting public and private facilities, respecting the opinion of others and defending the homeland. As for the rights of a good citizen in society, it is the right to education, the right to vote, the right to own property and the right to justice. Rights and duties can only be achieved through the law. Because the law protects everyone and help the nations to be stronger and stable.

-An essay about the arguments for and against e-learning at school.

-The Internet could be a very positive step towards education, organization and participation in a meaningful society."

Today, E- learning has emerged as a necessary resource for students and schools around the world. However, there are many advantages of online learning for students. Some people say that e-learning saves time and money for the students as they can depend on the online lessons to follow their education process, they can educate themselves at home, connect with teachers, and get information in an easier than the traditional ways. Now resources are available from anywhere at any time. On the other hand, some people say that the problem with e-learning is that we don't have this real reaction and discussion among the students and the teachers. The face-to-face learning experience is missing. Finally, I think e- learning is more important than traditional learning as it saves time and money.

Write about a natural disaster you saw or heard about.

last year an earthquake hit one of our cities which resulted in the destruction of many buildings and many people lost their lives. It was one of the most powerful quakes that we had never seen before. Many people suffered because of that disaster as they became homeless and helpless. Our government did the best to help those effected people, but it was more powerful than its abilities. For me, it was like a nightmare, I hope it will not happen again in anywhere. Finally, I think we should help each other when the nature gets angry and disasters happen.
