

1-Unit 1 (S.B)

-In no more than 100 words, write a composition in which you describe the job you want after graduation.

-What kind of challenges do you expect to face in your future career?

Include the following in your composition:

- Job requirements
- Your needs
- Expectations
- Beliefs and knowledge

Life is a matter of choices, and every choice you make makes you. So, upon graduation, I aspire to become a software engineer, this needs a strong analytical skills and proficiency in programming languages. I will need to keep learning to keep up with new technologies. I expect to face complex problem-solving challenges. However, I believe that a solid foundation in computer science with perseverance and hardworking, is the key to innovating and building solutions that positively impact our daily lives. This career is my goal of contributing to a more connected and efficient world.

2-Unit 1 (W.B)

Life is about the choices and decisions we make. Write about a personal experience in which you have made an important decision that changed your life.

The most important decision I made was choosing a university branch. I stood at a crossroads between engineering degree, urged by my family, and my deep-seated passion for digital media design. After a long discussion, I chose the latter, trusting my instinct that fulfills my dream. This choice fundamentally changed my life's positively. It introduced me to a world of creativity and innovation. It was a daunting leap, but it taught me a great lesson: the most critical decisions are those that honor your own voice and turn your dreams into reality.

3-Unit 2 (S.B)

Write a composition of no more than 100 words about a personal experience in which you failed but then you could achieve your target. Include the following:

- Name the problem.
- Steps you followed to help you.
- Getting help from others if any.
- Advice to people of your own age.

My first failure in mathematic exam was a stark wake-up call. The problem was my unfocused study method. I immediately created a strict, specific study schedule, dedicating time to master one topic at a time. I also sought help from my teacher, who provided invaluable clarification on complex concepts. My advice to peers is to view failure not as a defeat, but as a diagnostic tool. Identify the weakness, create a structured plan, and never hesitate to ask for guidance; perseverance is built this way.

4-Unit 2.(W.B)

In no more than 80 words, write a paragraph about someone who has influenced you to be the best version.

My grandfather, a compassionate doctor, has been my greatest influence. He treated patients with unwavering empathy, often without charge, teaching me that true success lies in serving others. His quiet strength and integrity during challenges formed his great character. He never gave lectures, but his actions constantly inspired me to pursue a meaningful life, to be more patient, and to work hard to be a successful person who contributes positively to the world around me.

5-Unit 3. (S.B)

Write a paragraph of no more than 80 words about the influence of poetry in people's lives. Include the following: • How poetry uses people's experience • Examples from your society • Your opinion

Poetry profoundly influences lives by transforming personal and collective experiences into resonant art. It captures universal emotions, making them relatable. In my society, contemporary poets share verses on social media about love and identity, sparking widespread connection. I believe poetry empowers individuals by giving voice to their inner worlds, fostering empathy and understanding in our daily lives.

6-Unit 4. (S.B)

In no more than 80 words write about what do you prefer: watching a film or attending a play?

I prefer seeing a play. It feels more special because it is happening live, right in front of me. The actors are real people on stage, and every show is a little different. I love sharing that exciting feeling with the rest of the audience. It feels more real and exciting than watching a movie on a screen.

7-Unit 4. (S.B)

In no more than 80 word write about what is the best play you have attended ever?

The best play I ever saw was "The Lion King." The moment it started, I was amazed. Giant animal puppets came down the aisles, and the stage was so beautiful and colorful. It felt like magic, seeing the story come to life right in front of me. The music, dancing, and costumes were incredible. It was a happy and exciting experience that I will never forget.

8-Unit 4.(S.B)

In no more than 80 word write a review of a play you have attended or read about. Include the following:

• Theme • Setting • Plot • Characters • Performance • Impression

I saw "The Trap Door," a play about facing your fears. It was set in a single, creaky old house. The story followed a young boy who discovers a mysterious locked door in his basement. The actor playing the boy was wonderful, using his body and voice to show real fear and courage. I felt nervous and excited with him. It was a powerful and moving performance that made me think about my own fears.

9-Unit 5. (S.B)

In no more than 80 words, write a paragraph about a person's rights and duties in society.

Citizenship is the main relationship between the citizen and the homeland. The law is the important link between them. Therefore, it is very important to know your duties and rights as a citizen. Among the duties of a good citizen in society: obeying rules and regulations, respecting traffic rules, protecting public and private facilities and defending the homeland. As for the rights of a good citizen in society, it is the right to education, the right to vote, the right to own property and the right to justice. Rights and duties can only be achieved through the law. Because the law protects everyone and helps the nations to be stronger and stable.

10-Unit 5.(W.B)

In no more than 80 words, write an essay about the government efforts in Syria to improve education at schools. The following prompts may help you:

1. building schools
2. free education
3. private education
4. compulsory education
5. online education

The Syrian government has undertaken efforts to improve education by constructing new schools and reinforcing a system of free and compulsory basic education. This aims to ensure widespread literacy and access. The expansion of private schooling and the initial steps toward integrating online learning platforms have been introduced to diversify educational opportunities. Despite significant challenges, particularly in infrastructure, these measures represent a commitment to rebuilding the educational framework and securing a foundation for the nation's future generations.

11-Unit 6.(S.B)

In no more than 100 words, write an article to your school magazine about students' rights and duties at school.

- 1 What are the duties of students?
- 2 What are the rights of students?
- 3 Why is it important for students to know their rights and duties?
- 4 How can students be aware of their duties?
- 5 Who is responsible for assuring students' rights?

A school is a community where rights and duties go hand in hand. Our primary duties as students are to attend classes regularly, respect staff and peers, complete our work diligently, and care for school property. In return, we have the right to a quality education in a safe environment, to express our opinions respectfully, and to be treated fairly. Understanding this balance is crucial; it fosters mutual respect and creates a positive atmosphere where everyone can thrive. Students can become aware of their duties through clear school charters and classroom discussions. Ultimately, while the school administration is responsible for assuring our rights, it is our cooperation that makes the community strong. Let's all contribute positively.

12-Unit 7.(S.B)

In no more than (80) words, write a paragraph about environmental health. The following prompts can help:

- setting laws to limit pollution.
- laws prohibiting smoking in public areas.
- awareness and health education.
- uncontaminated water, air, soil and food.

Environmental health is fundamental to public well-being, focusing on the external conditions that affect our lives. This is safeguarded by setting strict laws to limit industrial and vehicle pollution, alongside regulations that prohibit smoking in public areas to ensure clean air. Public awareness and health education are equally crucial. The ultimate goal is to guarantee access to uncontaminated water, safe food, and healthy soil, creating sustainable ecosystems that protect current and future generations from harm.

13-Unit 7.(W.B)

In no more than (80) words, write a paragraph about the following. What can help you prepare for a career as a nurse? The following prompts can help:

- qualifications
- skills
- tasks
- challenges

Preparing for a nursing career requires formal qualifications, typically a nursing diploma or degree, to gain essential medical knowledge. Beyond this, it demands key skills like empathy, communication, and resilience. Daily tasks involve patient care, administering medication, and collaborating with doctors. The role presents challenges, including emotional strain and long shifts, but is ultimately a profoundly rewarding profession dedicated to providing compassion and critical support to those in need.

14-Unit 8.(S.B)

In no more than 80 word write about what did you last read? What was it about?

The last book I read was "The Alchemist." It's about a young shepherd named Santiago who travels to Egypt searching for a hidden treasure. His journey teaches him to follow his dreams and listen to his heart. The story shows that life is about the adventures we have and the lessons we learn, not just the treasure we find. It is a simple but very powerful story.

15-Unit 8.(S.B)

In no more than 80 words write about How does literature affect individuals and societies?

Literature opens our minds to new worlds and ideas. For individuals, it builds empathy by letting us live other lives and understand different feelings. For society, stories preserve culture and history, sharing lessons across generations. Books can challenge old ideas and inspire positive change, making people think and question the world. In short, literature connects us, teaches us, and helps us grow together, both as individuals and as a community.

16-Unit 9.(S.B)

Write an article about what it takes to be a good citizen in your community. Your article should include rights and duties of a citizen in your community.

Being a good citizen is the cornerstone of a thriving community. It requires actively fulfilling one's duties while respecting the rights of others. Key duties include obeying laws, paying taxes, engaging in civic life, and protecting the environment. In return, citizens are entitled to fundamental rights such as safety, justice, education, and freedom of expression. Ultimately, good citizenship is a shared responsibility; by upholding our obligations, we collectively build a just, secure, and prosperous society for all.

17-Unit 9.(W.B)

Write a composition of about 100 words about “The importance of law in people’s lives”.

The following prompts may help you:

- Why is it important?
- How should parents encourage their children to obey laws?
- What should schools do to empower the sense of dedication to law?
- What should be done to those who do not obey law?

The law is the essential framework that ensures order, justice, and the protection of rights in society. It creates a safe environment where individuals and communities can thrive. Parents should encourage obedience to law by modeling respect for rules themselves. Schools must empower this dedication by integrating civic education into their curricula. For those who break the law, a fair and consistent justice system should apply appropriate measures, not only as punishment but also as a means for rehabilitation, upholding the principle that no one is above the law.

18-Unit 10.(W.B)

Many people visit your country, but they don't know a lot about it.

Write an article to help them culturally aware of your country.

Syria is a great country ,and it is full of many historical and cultural areas that attract many visitors .Many tourists visit Syria, but they are not culturally aware of it. Syria is a home to one of the oldest civilizations in the world, with a rich artistic and cultural heritage. Syria is a traditional society with a long cultural history. The Syrians are famous for the traditional arts and cooper artifacts. Marriage ceremonies are occasions for the relatives and friends to enjoy time together. Finally, Syria has a beautiful landscapes and moderate climate which make it one of the most attractive destinations for tourists.

19-Unit 11.(S.B)

In your own words, write a summary of the Epic of Gilgamesh.

Gilgamesh, a powerful but cruel king, befriends Enkidu, a wild man. They go on a great adventure and defeat a monster. But the gods punish them, and Enkidu dies. Heartbroken, Gilgamesh fears his own death. He journeys to find eternal life, but learns that it is impossible. He returns home understanding that while mortals die, people can achieve greatness through building a good city and creating a lasting name. His story is about friendship, loss, and accepting mortality.

21-Unit 12 (S.B)

Art influences any society by changing opinions, instilling values and translating experiences across space and time. Write a composition in no more than 100 word about the role of art in the development of our world.

Art is a powerful force in our world. It is not just decoration; it shapes how we think and feel. Great paintings, songs, and stories can challenge old ideas and inspire new ones. Art preserves our shared memory, telling future generations about our joys and struggles. It builds bridges between different cultures, helping us understand each other. By making us question and feel, art pushes society to grow, learn, and become more compassionate. It is a mirror of reality.
